There's No Place Like a Home With Character

A beautiful lot speaks for itself. Yet sometimes the home that's built on it pales in comparison, creating a sense that something is lacking. For the owners of this North Leaside home, a young family with two small children, the missing element was a sense of warmth and character. At the same time, they felt they needed more space for their growing family.

A two-storey rear addition and separate addition over the garage helped to transform the main floor living space into an inviting new kitchen, family room and dining area. Large windows were chosen to provide unobstructed views of the picturesque backyard as well as to let in plenty of sunlight. In the master bedroom, striking cathedral ceilings create the illusion of space while a two-sided stone-faced fireplace adds charm and warmth to both the sleeping area and ensuite bathroom.

In addition to its brand new interior, the newly designed exterior completes the home, exuding an artsy, rustic appeal more suitable to its surrounding landscape, and giving it a personality all of its own.

"Our architect recommended Godel Construction to us. We are so pleased with our renovation, as well as the high calibre of workmanship," said the homeowner. Alan brought some great ideas to the table —he is extremely conscientious and we trust him implicitly."
