CREATIVITY

Our firm's portfolio displays a wide range of architectural styles. We engage with our clients to understand what their tastes and preferences are before suggesting any design direction. We are as happy to do glass-and-steel modern as we are Southampton shingle-style beach houses. At the front end of every project, we present full colour 3D renderings and inspiration photos to make sure we are in sync with what our clients are dreaming of.

CONTEXT

We believe our job as designers is to bring nature, houses and human beings together. One reason why we focus on rural properties is because the sites we work on have so much to offer. They have views, sunsets, water, ever-changing weather and topography. All these can be leveraged to make the building better.
